The traders of Dispensary Road near the Commercial Street area are an unhappy lot. They are complaining about garbage knolls on pavements as all the dustbins in the area have suddenly vanished.

While many are perplexed about the sudden disappearance of the waste bins, some are sore over the string of civic issues that keep cropping up now and then in the vicinity.

"We are being forced to run businesses with garbage piles just in front of our shops. It is not just an unpleasant sight for us, it is unpleasant for the shoppers too; this creates unhygienic conditions over time," said Pranav R*, a businessman from Dispensary Road.

Traders BM spoke to said the 500-metre stretch had at least three pairs of waste bins installed a few months ago to dispose of the garbage. However, all the bins have now been removed leading to garbage mounds on pedestrian walkways.

"It appears that the dustbins have been removed for good. I noticed they were missing almost two weeks ago. We have no clue about the reason behind this. However, everyone is dumping garbage at the spot dustbins used to be there. It dampens the look and feel of the commercial street area known for attracting shoppers from

9-year-old paints her way to a better world

At just nine, a Class 5 student is making the world a brighter place for children in need by raising funds through her paintings.

Shruthi, a student of Capitol Public School, JP Nagar, has raised around Rs 1,30,000 through selling her paintings to support children of her age.

"I used to visit an orphanage at JP Nagar during the weekends. Their condition motivated me to do something to help them. I raised Rs 30,000 for the orphanage by selling my paintings two years ago," said Shruthi with a smile.

An abstract painter, Shruthi is started drawing at the age of five. During the lockdown, she started tried many new styles including acrylic paintings, Mandala Art, Embossed paintings, Warli art, modern art etc.

"The lockdown gave me plenty of time to draw paintings," she said.

The Rotary Club extended support to sell 150+ of her paintings through various exhibitions and raised Rs 1,30,000 that was donated to Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology for the welfare of cancer-affected children.

"I visited Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology and met children diagnosed with cancer. I gave them colour pencils and sketches. I made them paint the sketches. My joy knew no bounds after seeing them happy painting," she said.

The young philanthropist said that she would like to support many more children in need and is in the process of fundraising. "Donating Rs 1,30,000 is not a big deal. The children at Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology need more than Rs 1,00,00,000. I will continue to raise funds through selling my paintings," she said.

She added that motivation came in the form of her teachers and classmates. Her teachers appreciated her for fund-raising through selling my paintings. "My classmates also clapped in appreciation," she smiled.

Lover's jump lands him in cops' arms

Trying to escape lover's hubby, man scales wall of HAL airport that is restricted to public

Attempting to escape from his lover's husband, a man jumped the wall to enter the HAL airport premises which is restricted to the public. The incident took place a day before the arrival of the Prime Minister's for the unveiling of the Kempegowda statue.

Mukunda Khound arrived from Assam on November 9 to visit Purvi at her house. At that time, her husband came home and fought with Khound. Scared, Khound jumped the wall of the HAL airport premises near Yemlur.

He tried to hide under the solar panels installed near the trolley gate, following which he was detained by airport security personnel. "During the interrogation, he said that he first entered the HAL premises as a thief, but later on, he told the truth," the police said.

"There was no security lapse during the Prime Minister's visit. The accused who trespassed into the HAL airport has been arrested," said S Girish, DCP, Whitefield Division.

Soldier dies from accident wounds

A 22-year-old resident of Chinnakote village of Kolar district was injured in a car accident on November 7 in Kamakshipalya.

The victim, identified as Chetan, later succumbed to his injuries on Thursday morning. The soldier was hit by a Bengaluru Metropolitan Transport Corporation bus last week. The victim was attached to the Chennai Regiment and had come to the city to meet and spend time with his family.

Chetan was taken to the Commando hospital near Yelahanka. He had joined the army three years ago.

Girl held for morphing photos of ex lover's sister

City cyber police registered a case against a B Com student who was harassing and uploading morphed, obscene photos of another girl. The accused was earlier in a relationship with the victim's elder brother, said police.

"The victim's brother broke up with the girl and she chose to take revenge.

She used to create fake accounts and upload photoshopped photos of his sister. Then she started sending rude messages to his sister. Later, the parents approached the cyber cell," said the police.

The police found the culprit by her IP address

Cops bust sex racket

The Central Crime Branch busted a sex racket in three city hotels.

Police rescued seven women and arrested six people in connection to the case. The hotels have been identified as Vasavi Lodge in City Market, Durga Palace Lodge in Cottonpet, and Safir Boarding and Lodge in Kalasipalya.

Acting after a tip-off, a team from the social security cell of the crime branch sent people to check the hotels. After confirming prostitution at the site, cops raided the hotels and the women lured into the racket were rescued.

Police informed that a case had been lodged under sections 370 and 34 of the IPC and the Prevention of Immoral Trafficking Act (PITA). They are still investigating the case.

Fresh start for weed-ridden lake

Kaggadasapura Lake is set to get sewage treatment plant by September 2023

Y Maheswara Reddy
c-y.reddy@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @BangaloreMIRROR

The decks have finally been cleared for the construction of the much-needed sewage treatment plant (STP) at Kaggadasapura Lake in CV Raman Nagar Assembly constituency. There was an attempt made by the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) in September 2020 to do so, but the work came to a halt when a petition was filed in the court, objecting to the STP's construction on land that came under the buffer zone.

Residents of Kaggadasapura, especially those visiting the lake for walks, are very happy with the recommencement of construction. They said that the authorities concerned should take measures to complete the work on time.

"The construction of the STP is on track. I have directed the BWSSB engineer to complete it on time. I am confident that it will become operational as per schedule," said CV Raman Nagar MLA S Raghu.

For all these years, sewage had been entering into the lake through two stormwater drains. Now, the BWSSB has taken measures to prevent it. Sewage diversion work is in progress, said Raghu.

Construction is supposed to be completed by September 16, 2023 at an estimated cost of Rs 26.38 crore. According to BWSSB Chief Engineer (Wastewater Management) Gangadhar BC, the STP would have been constructed by this time if not for the petition.

"We have taken up the construction of the STP after availing permission from the court. This will facilitate water treatment at the lake. The contractor has to complete the STP in 18 months," Gangadhar said.

"The construction of the STP is on track. I have directed the BWSSB engineer to complete it on time. I am confident it will be operational as per schedule –S Raghu, MLA

The design and construction of the 5-MLD capacity STP is based on sequencing batch reactor process technology with biological nutrient removal systems including operation and maintenance for 10 years.

Meanwhile, residents have welcomed the commencement of work.

"This lake is the destination for hundreds of people from Kaggadasapura, Malleshpalya, GM Palya, and Maruthinagar for a walk in the morning or evening. Ensuring the lake is free from froth, weeds, and bad odour will be a great help for the people who come here for a walk," said Ramesh Gowda, a resident of Kaggadaspura.

Naveen Nair, a resident of Malleshpalya, said the BWSSB and BBMP Lakes Department should take measures to ensure quality work. "It was nauseating to see the lake filled with dirty water and weeds. Now, the lakes department has taken up rejuvenation. Bund strengthening work on the south and west sides of the lake is also in progress," said Nair.

Purushotham, a resident from Kaggadasapura, said that measures should be taken to construct a pathway around the water body for the benefit of walkers.

Large, rainwater filled potholes can be seen on Varthur Kodi link Road

Commuters are frustrated with the state of Varthur Kodi Link Road. They say that the stretch is in a terrible condition and commuting through it is extremely dangerous. They want authorities to take quick action to fix the dilapidated road.

Rohan K Balan, a commuter, said, "The road's condition is extremely bad. Commuting through the area is an absolute pain. There is not even a stretch on this road that is free of huge potholes. If any vehicle falls into any one of these craters, a major accident is bound to happen."

Some commuters also pointed out that over the last few days, the city has seen a number of accidents because of potholes. Aman Kumar, a resident of the area, said, "Even though there have been so many deaths and accidents because of potholes, no action has been taken to fix this road. It is like an accident waiting to happen. I honestly feel scared whenever I have to use this road while on my two-wheeler."

Dikshith Krishnegowda, another resident, said that the condition of the road becomes worse when it rains. "The road gets filled with knee-deep water. The potholes become full of water too, and people have to cross it in that state. There is no way commuters can understand where the potholes are, which makes it even more risky. The road also gets filled with mud, which further adds to the inconveniences."

People in the area said that the potholes also affect smooth flow of traffic. Congestions are pretty frequent here.

Rajiv Krishnan, also a commuter, told Bangalore Mirror that since there are so many potholes, it is not possible for anyone to drive at a normal speed. Everyone has to ride very slowly and carefully in order to cross this stretch without any injuries, he said, adding that it takes more than 30 minutes to cross it.

A BBMP official said that they are planning to come up with a solution to resolve the problems of the people in the area. "We will start work here soon," they said.

across the city," said Gaurav Ritis, another shop owner on the stretch.

Not only are the bins missing in action, traders alleged that garbage collection is also not happening frequently, impacting customer footfall in shops located near the garbage piles.

"There were six garbage bins installed at three locations on the stretch. While the bins always used to overflow, currently all that garbage is being dumped on the pedestrian walk. The collection is not happening frequently leading to garbage mounds dotting the area. Moreover, there have been instances when the piles are rummaged by street dogs leading to garbage strewn all over the street," rued another trader.

Shop owners claimed the bins have been removed by the urban local body without any prior intimation.

"We noticed one fine day that the bins were missing. The lack of dustbins leading to garbage piles on footpaths is deteriorating the image of the market. Earlier, the streetlights were not working properly. While we got that issue fixed to some extent, a new civic problem has surfaced now. This slew of issues is impacting our business. How are the customers going to walk on pavements with garbage piles?" asked yet another trader on the stretch.

A QUIET, QUIET PLACE

No-honking signboards inside Cubbon Park seem to be doing the trick in reducing noise pollution considerably in area, say walkers & traffic police

Garima Prasher
c-garima.prasher@timesgroup.com
TWEETS @BangaloreMIRROR

It has been two weeks since around 12 no-honking sign boards were installed inside Cubbon Park at various spots, officially marking it as a 'no-honking' area and regular walkers and traffic police officials have noted that the noise level inside the park has gone down considerably. They say the 'no-honking' sign boards installed recently by the Cubbon Park Horticulture Department along with the City Traffic Police have improved the situation and vehicular honking noise has been reduced.

"I visited the park over the last weekend when traffic is usually high. While the honking noise has not stopped completely, there is a clear drop in the level after the boards have been installed. Although many traffic-related rules are enforced strictly, 'no-honking' has not gained that status yet. While people in the city are habituated to honking, the signboards will surely play a role in spreading awareness," said Raja Kannan, a regular at the park.

Park users say that the signboards have been installed in places that are easy to spot by motorists. Moreover, the awareness campaign, organised immediately after the signboards were installed, has also brought down the honking incidents.

"Within minutes of the students taking the position with placards along the roads inside Cubbon Park, we noticed a significant drop in the usage of horns. People were consciously avoiding honking when their attention was drawn towards this aspect," said Rajkumar Dugar, founder, Citizens for Citizens, who was present during the awareness campaign organised by the students of Mount Carmel College.

The signboards put up in easy-to-spot places in Cubbon Park have helped

Honking, no longer okay in Cubbon Park
Food app's fight against rash driving
BM had reported on Nov 5 that the boards have been put up

Cubbon Park traffic police officials agree.

"To some extent, the signboards are already working. After the boards were installed, we found fewer vehicles honking compared to before. So far, we are only trying to spread awareness among motorists about the new rule. When we encounter a honking vehicle, we stop the driver and tell them about the new rule inside the park," said a Cubbon Park traffic police official.

Netizens say while putting up the 'no-honking' sign boards is a welcome initiative, enforcement can happen only when there is a penalty in place.

"While I completely support the initiative, there must be penalties attached to this rule. Unless that happens, it will be difficult for traffic police officials to enforce it. Moreover, traffic police must bring in some enforcement techniques to catch hold of the defaulters," said Priya Chetty Rajagopal, a regular at the park.

Walkers say that although honk-free Cubbon Park sounds good, it can be achieved only when 'no-honking' rules are enforced in true spirit.

"Penalty for honking inside the park should be brought in gradually. However, traffic police have limited resources and they are mostly focused on issues that turn fatal such as missing helmets, wrong-side driving, not wearing seat belts, drunk driving, and cases of signal jumping. However, noise pollution also can turn fatal if not checked in time and thus the rule must be implemented strictly," added Kannan, who is also an anti-honking activist.

Private firm's MD under ED's scanner

The Directorate of Enforcement (ED) in a press release said that the owner of a private firm, Injaz International, has been arrested under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002 duping people into investing large sums of money with promises of high returns.

The accused, Misbahuddin S, was produced before the Special Court (PMLA), Bengaluru and the court has granted his custody to ED till November 19.

ED initiated a money laundering investigation after the FIR was registered against Injaz International and its associated group under sections of Prize Chits and Money Circulation Schemes (Banning) Act, 1978 and Chit Funds Act, 1982 and under Section 420 of IPC by Wilson Garden Police Station, Bengaluru City.

The Central Crime Branch, Bengaluru division, started investigating the scam, which is believed to be over Rs 250 crore.

The case is under investigation, said ED.

Mission: Hold BBMP accountable for potholes

TWEETS @BangaloreMIRROR

A day after a 60-year-old met with an accident while trying to maneuvre a pothole in Malleswaram, citizens group 'Save Bengaluru Committee' launched a campaign to protest against potholes and poor road development.

The sexagenarian, Subaramanyam, had to get ten stitches.

Citizens and members of SBC convened near Freedom Park and protested against the pothole problem in Bengaluru.

N Ravi, Co-convenor of SBC, said, "Potholes have claimed the lives of youngsters and senior citizens alike. The stagnation of water and water seeping into the surface leads to cracks in the road."

He added that rainwater should ideally flow through stormwater drains. But the situation in Bengaluru is that most drains are covered with granite slabs and it's difficult to ascertain the condition of the drains. These drains could be blocked but it's not visible. Another issue is that water flowing should go into SWDs through side vents. But due to BBMP's negligence, the vent is blocked, added Ravi.

He said that in Basavangudi, roads are being asphalted at 1-1.5-inch thickness while they should ideally be at 4 inches.

"Currently there is no pressure on BBMP to act. People should question and hold BBMP responsible for these tragedies," added Ravi.

Injuries from potholes have become a common issue for gig-economy workers.

"We keep getting complaints of the poor condition of roads and the impact on their bodies. Even though there is a provision for accidental claims, sudden accidents and official procedures, leave the workers in a lurch. When civic works are in progress, gig-economy workers have to take longer routes to reach their destination," said Vinay Sarathi, a protestor.

A GENERATION GROWING UP IN AN AGE OF RAPID CHANGE WANTS TO BUY SMALL CARS

Millennials prefer compact cars

Respedit.Bangalore
@timesgroup.com

What do the freedom loving, connected, and pragmatic youngsters called 'millennials' look for when they are investing in a vehicle? Small and medium-sized compact cars have turned out to be their preferred vehicle. There is an endless range of choices in the market, but this generation is confident about what they want. Dipanshu Kishan, a lawyer, shares his preferences, "I travel 55 kilometres a day, and in a city like this which is overpopulated and congested, small cars are easy to maneuver. Moreover, since they have a smaller engine, their maintenance cost is also comparatively lower."

BEST IN CLASS

Good city cars are small, cheaper and easy to drive around urban Indian cities. But that's not all. They are also best in class, bold in designs, and their engines make them fun to drive. Kishan adds, "Not just for the city, my car is also great for the highway. I love going on small trips over the weekends for the sheer pleasure of driving it. It's stable and provides a planted ride." Prepared with a nice suspension that absorb the impact of those bumps effectively, compact cars, be it hatchbacks or small sedans, are best suited for Indian roads.

Arjun Varma, business development head at a motor sport company, shares, "Compact cars are quite efficient and immensely easy to park. Where it takes 20 minutes for my neighbour to park her SUV, it takes me a minute as we have close-packed apartments. Additionally, living in a city where traffic is always on its peak, driving my car around is more manageable. What's also quite convenient about my hatchback is that I can carry my cycle in the back, when most larger cars don't allow for that."

STYLISH AND COST-EFFECTIVE

Most of the present compact cars seem to have been launched with a primary motive: to offer a stylish and comfortable vehicle at a reasonable price with the lowest maintenance and running cost. While that would be a challenge for the new entrants to tackle, the car companies' focus has begun to pay attention to alternative fuels such as diesel, LPG, CNG and ethanol mix too. Newer technologies are also being introduced. There are many upcoming cars which are going to hit the market in the next one year. Electric cars are now the future of the automobile industry. An electric car does not contribute to air and noise pollution," says Sourabh R.

Consumers are spoilt for choice when it comes to buying small cars as there are plenty of options to choose from. Middle class and youth are major buyers of small budget cars. Many people in the age bracket of 22-30 years who intend to buy a car in the next year are considering small cars in bigger numbers than before. Apart from the price, comfort, handling and the ride are what matters to the younger lot. "I am looking for a car that is fun-to-drive, stylish and easy on the wheels and most importantly at a price range of Rs 2-6 lakh as I do not want to spend too much on EMIs and on car insurance, says Nisha Nair, a techie.

Small city cars are getting better by the day. Gone are the days of the cramped, cheap models. Class and standards have gone up across the board for the compact-sized car manufacturers.

A beginner's guide to EVs

IF YOU'RE PLANNING TO INVEST IN AN ELECTRIC AUTOMOBILE THIS FESTIVE SEASON, THEN HERE'S EVERYTHING YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT IT

Irene.Fernandes

Electric vehicles (EVs) are a great alternative to petrol cars. They help lower your carbon footprint and are easy to operate. In a major step towards a sustainable future, India has set the national target of achieving 30 per cent EV sales for private cars, 70 per cent for commercial vehicles, and 80 per cent for two- and three-wheelers by 2030. With the government introducing initiatives for the faster adoption of EVs, here is a handy guide for all your EV-related queries.

WHAT IS AN EV?

Electrically chargeable vehicles, commonly known as EVs, are vehicles that run on a battery instead of petrol or diesel, and an electric motor instead of an Internal Combustion Engine (ICE). "An EV uses one or more electric motors for propulsion. It can be powered with electricity from extravehicular sources, or it can be powered autonomously by a battery. Though the concept of electric vehicles has been around for a long time, it has drawn a considerable amount of interest in the past decade amid a rising carbon footprint and other environmental impacts of fuel-based vehicles," explains Yatin Gupte, chairman and managing director of a leading auto manufacturing company in the electric vehicle segment.

PHOTO: © ISTOCK

WHAT ARE THE DIFFERENT TYPES OF EVS?

Typically, there are four types of electric vehicles: battery electric vehicles (BEVs), plug-in hybrid electric vehicles (PHEVs), hybrid electric vehicles (HEVs) and fuel-cell electric vehicles (FCEVs).

HEVs run on ICE and an electric propulsion system. Gupte points out, "HEVs are also known as series hybrid or parallel hybrid. HEVs have both engine and electric motors. The engine gets energy from fuel, and the motor gets electricity from the batteries. The transmission is rotated simultaneously by both engine and electric motor. This then drives the wheels."

PHEVs are also hybrid vehicles. PHEVs have ICE and electric motors like HEVs. "However, what sets PHEVs apart from HEVs is their large battery size. These batteries are charged by plugging into a charging outlet. In PHEVs, ICE works as a backup engine. When the battery runs out of charge, ICE kicks in automatically," expounds Gaurav Gupta, chief commercial officer of an automobile company.

BEVs are completely electric and are also known as All-Electric Vehicles (AEV). BEVs are powered by lithium-ion batteries and are driven by electric motors. "The electricity used to drive the vehicle is stored in a large battery pack which can be charged by plugging it into the electricity grid," adds Gupte.

FCEVs are also known as zero-emission vehicles. Fuel-cell EVs eliminate even the dependency on charging. These vehicles have fuel cells that generate electricity with oxygen from the air and compressed hydrogen. FCEVs are suitable for long and mid-range drives.

WHAT IS THE RANGE OF AN EV CHARGE?

Range refers to the distance an electric or hybrid vehicle can travel before the battery needs to be recharged. The range an EV offers on a single charge depends on its make and model. Gupte explains, "The range of an EV depends on the capacity of its lithium-ion battery, in other words, the amount of electricity it is able to store. Expressed in kWh (kilowatt hours), it is equivalent to the size of the fuel tank in combustion-powered vehicles: it determines the energy reserves available to the motor and other elements of the vehicle. The level of energy in the battery at a given moment therefore defines the remaining range of the electric vehicle."

EV CHARGING

■ EVs have three different levels of charging: Level 1, Level 2, and Level 3. The higher the level, the higher the power output and the faster your EV will charge.

■ Level 1: This is the slowest and requires a 120V outlet. This level of charging usually takes 16 to 20 hours to fully charge the vehicle's batteries depending on its capacity. It gives about 6 to 8 kms of range per hour.

■ Level 2: This requires a 240V outlet and is the most common level of charging for daily use. Additional hardware is required for this type of charging, and it can be accessed at residential, public, business, and commercial locations that have an EV charging station. An hour's charging will provide roughly 120 kms to your battery's range. "If you are considering installing a Level 2 charging station in your residential premises, make sure it is certified by a reputed and independent testing laboratory (or purchased from the car manufacturer) and professionally installed," advises Arun Sunny, founder of a manufacturer of high-speed electric motorcycles and sports cars.

■ Level 3: It uses direct current (DC) and is the fastest way-requires just a few minutes-to charge an EV. It requires a 480V outlet. However, it is quite expensive and is usually found at public charging stations.

WHAT TO KEEP IN MIND WHEN CHARGING AN EV?

■ Under no circumstances should one touch the charging connector or charging plug with their wet hands. Never stand in water or snow when connecting or disconnecting the charging cable. Also, do not charge your vehicle when the charging connector and plug are wet. Keep the charging connector, cable, and plug clean and dry.

■ Only use the correct charger for charging the electric vehicle. Using any other charger or connector configuration may cause failure and damage to your EV.

■ Be cautious with the charging connector. Dropping it could damage it.

■ Avoid charging if you notice anything abnormal, such as sparks, burning, or smoke from the EV.

■ Always follow the manufacturer's directions when charging your vehicle.

For Iran

An Iranian psychologist in Bengaluru on Wednesday protested against the atrocities by the Iran government.

The woman, Niko Azad, held a protest on Church Street against the death of 22-year-old Mahsa Amini and the detention of two female journalists Niloufar Hamedi and Elahe Mohammadi.

Azad protested sitting with her hands tied to a pole, wearing a saree printed with hand signs, flowers around her, Iran flag-coloured bangles and a revolutionary Iranian song playing in the background.

Crying, she said, "We want our rights in our country, we will protest and fight until Iran government stops torturing people," she said.

Your favourite rock park is getting a new theme

Bangalore Mirror Bureau

TWEETS @BangaloreMIRROR

One of Bengaluru's most popular spots, the Bugle Rock Park is all set to get a theme park with various artifacts.

The theme park is already being given finishing touches and one can see various sculptures depicting the famous Kadalekai Parishe, children playing with Chota Bheem, peacock, tigers and a cattle herd etc.

The park is spread across an area of seven acres and this project is being taken up at a cost of Rs 5 crore.

Basavanagudi MLA L Ravi Subramanya said that the theme park was created to give a different perspective to the visitors. The visitors should get a feeling of the village life as well. The kids will definitely enjoy it. There are also plans to construct a temple circuit path here as this connects to a number of temples around. There are plans to introduce battery-operated vehicles so that senior citizens can use the vehicles to move around.

Sculptures depicting cattle, peacocks, tigers are being installed

There are plans to introduce battery-operated vehicles for the ease of senior citizens

According to historian Suresh Moona, the Bugle Rock Park is a very unique rock garden in the city. As per geologists, the stones in the park are part of the peninsular gneiss (a rocky layer on which the city is based). While a vast stretch of this rock erupted out as a huge mass in Lalbagh, in other parts of the city, they have come out in the form of rocks and boulders of various shapes and sizes. Interestingly, at the park, there is a tall rock which is higher than the ground level and a tower is built atop it.

The park derives its name because of this distinctive feature. According to one version, Kempegowda II had built a watch tower on this rock and a sentry used to hold a torch and a blow bugle during evening hours. Sentries posted in the other watch towers could see this act and it was performed to signal to the citizens that everything was alright.

It is also said that during the third Anglo Mysore war, some soldiers of Tipu Sultan's army had gathered here to reorganise and plan an attack on British troops. They might have also used this elevated point to signal the sentries inside the fort. According to old timers of this locality, in the past, the bugles were blown at a particular hour to denote time.

Pay cuts for latecomer teachers

The Bangalore University (BU) has issued a circular stating that any lecturer found reporting late to work may lose half a day's pay if the issue is recurring.

BU registrar Mahesh Babu N said, "We need to bring in discipline in the university and hence decided to introduce the latest rules. We hope everyone will abide by this."

As per the latest circular (a copy with Bangalore Mirror), Mahesh stated, "I found that a few of the teaching and non-teaching staff were not reporting to office on time. We have already reiterated that every staff member has to sign the attendance twice a day.

As per the rules, the employees found reporting late to duty will be at risk of losing half a day's salary. Initially, those coming late will be marked absent and they will be adjusted with casual leaves or earned leaves and in case of expiry of leaves, salary and allowances may be deducted."

The order further states that in case any employee needs to go out of office for emergency work, then the employee has to register that in a movement register and take prior permission. If the employee stays away from office working hours for more than 30 minutes, then it will be considered as a leave. The circular also states that there are plans to introduce biometrics in the office.

According to the registrar, absences will be adjusted with casual and earned leaves and then salaries deducted

Another senior official said, "We have been receiving a lot of complaints from students that lecturers are not turning up on time and this is affecting the completion of the syllabus. For the last few years, we have been sending a lot of reminders but still a few continue to disrespect the rule. The officials are paying surprise visits to classrooms to keep a tab on how punctuality is going on.

So, we hope those who have been latecomers will be on time for office as they are at the risk of losing their salary. Earlier, we had introduced biometrics but it was discontinued for various reasons. Now, we plan to introduce biometrics but the varsity is facing a fund crunch."

Walk for visually impaired cricketers

Y Maheswara Reddy

To raise awareness about the upcoming 3rd T-20 World Cup for the Blind 2022, Samarthanam Trust for the Disabled, a non-profit working to empower those differently abled, is organising a walkathon on November 19 at Kanteerava Stadium.

The World Cup for the Blind 2022 is scheduled to be held from December 5 to 17.

"The objective of the walkathon is to get public support and encouragement for the 3rd T-20 World Cup for the blind. Bengaluru Central MP PC Mohan, Shivajinagar MLA Rizwan Arshad, and other prominent persons are expected to attend the event," said Dr Mahantesh G Kivadasannavar, Founder Managing Trustee of Samarthanam.

He said that Samarthanam has been organising walkathons on different themes.

"The theme of the walkathon is: Let's walk to support visually impaired cricket. I perceive that this walkathon is a rehabilitation drive for the millions of visually impaired people across the globe so that they can overcome barriers by boosting their confidence, leading to economic empowerment of the visually impaired cricketers," he said.

Seven countries such as Australia, South Africa, Pakistan, Nepal, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka and the host India are participating, playing 24 matches in eight cities. Actress Sapthami Gowda will be the brand ambassador for the walkathon this year, informed Kivadasannavar.

Kantara star said that it surprises her how the visually impaired players play cricket, which itself is a very tricky and challenging game.

"I can't wait to watch and support the 3rd T20 World Cup. Let us be a part of it and support and enrich our experience," she said. Every year, Samarthanam organises a one-of-a-kind walkathon that witnesses massive public support. Samarthanam's Walkathon is organised mainly to encourage people across the country to get involved and spread awareness on a common cause.

Indian Blind Cricket Team captain Ajay Kumar Reddy said the cricket team has been busy with the practice sessions in Bengaluru. "I am confident about the success of the match and winning the Cup," he said.

Put our heads together, to chalk out budget plan

My City My Budget will focus on parks, footpaths and public toilets this time

TWEETS @BangaloreMIRROR

Just this February, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), along with the Janaagraha, a non-profit organisation, carried out the My City My Budget campaign for 2022-2023. Now, they are geared up to initiate the campaign shortly for the BBMP budget (2023-2024).

This year, the campaign is focussed on collecting inputs from citizens with a special focus on parks, footpaths, and public toilets. A budget bus was brought in to go around the city and elicit opinions from people in different neighbourhoods of Bengaluru.

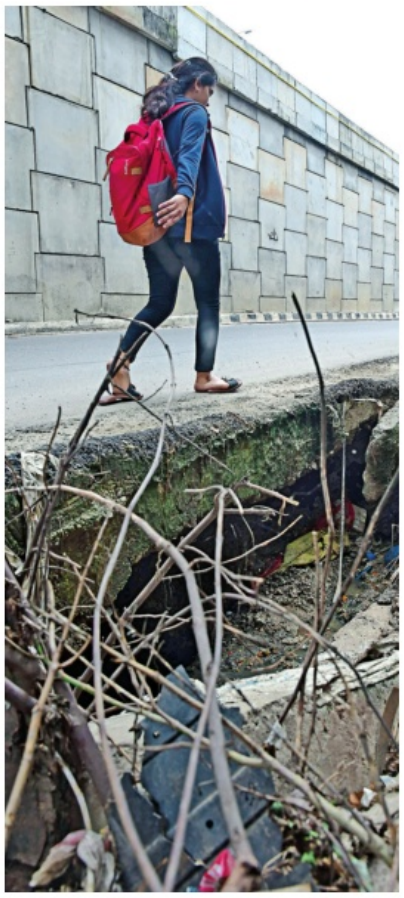
Preparations are underway to kickstart the campaign early this year to get higher citizen engagement. The Bengaluru Ward Samiti Balaga met with BBMP Commissioner Tushar Giri Nath on Tuesday to discuss the status of ward committees and My City My Budget for 2023-24.

Top-of-mind issues

The top issues identified by members of Bengaluru Ward Samiti Balaga for prioritising in the upcoming city budget are roads, footpaths, street lights, and solid waste management (SWM).

Under the category of roads and footpaths, key areas include repairing broken footpaths and existing roads, providing new footpaths, rainwater harvesting, and drainage. For streetlights, repairing and providing new lights will be the focus.

Under SWM, the members said that the main focus should be on upgrading Dry Waste Collection Centres (DWCC) and providing leaf cutter shredders. Apart from this, importance will also be given to community composting and lane composter units.



Broken footpaths and roads are areas of concern in the city

> "Allocating budget is easy; implementation is crucial, and it can be monitored by ward committees – Srinivas Alavilli, Janaagraha

The campaign is supposed to be launched by November end.

Good timing

Srinivas Alavilli, head of civic participation, Janaagraha, said, "This is the right time to start the campaign since the budget will be applicable from the month of April. We will be able to get more inputs from citizens, which will go to the BBMP and help make a better budget. One big difference this year is that Bengaluru Ward Samiti Balaga will take the campaign forward. The objective of Balaga is to strengthen the ward committee. Allocating the budget is easy, but implementing is the main aspect, and the implementations can be monitored by ward committees. The allocation should lead to an outcome, and the place to do that is ward committees."

The inputs received from citizens will be categorised, analysed, and consolidated. It will then be sent for budget estimation.

Several organisations like Association for Promoting Social Action, Bangalore Apartment Federation, Bangalore Political Action Committee, Changemakers of Kanakapura Road, Citizen for Bengaluru, Citizen Participation Program, Janaagraha Centre for Citizenship and Democracy, Sensing Local, and Whitefield Rising will support the campaign.

Kids interview officials

Ten school children got an opportunity to meet officials and stress on the need for games in the overall development of a child's life, on Wednesday. The children met government officials, including Commissioner of Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Department and others to interview them.

"I met Karnataka State Commission for Protection of Child Rights Chairman and Child Welfare Committee chairperson Anjali Ramanna. I complained about the lack of playgrounds," said Gowtham R, a student. The students were happy with the response from officials.

Child Rights Trust Director Nagasimha G Rao said that a questionnaire was prepared for this purpose. "The theme for the year is – Games for Development. We contacted schools to send children interested interviewing the government officials. They sent 10 students and we trained them on how to interview the officials," said Rao. He emphasised on the importance of games in the development of children. "Importance must be given to games on par with academics," he said.

Anjali Ramanna, chairman of Child Welfare Committee-I (above 6 years girls) advocated for sports facilities for kids. "Children should have access to the play area at playgrounds but unfortunately most play areas are occupied by adults. Many children are not able to use the equipment at the play areas due to miscreants," said Ramanna. She said children from slums are the most affected as their parents are at work and they cannot visit a park on their own.

Karnataka State Commission for Protection of Child Rights Chairman K Naganna Gowda said he advised the children to use facilities available. — Y Maheswara Reddy

Online job scam raids

Eighty bank accounts having a balance of Rs 1 crore have been frozen by the Directorate of Enforcement (ED) here as part of its ongoing investigation in a case related to 'Super Like Earning Application', a scam promising part-tie online jobs, an official said on Thursday. The bank accounts of the accused people were frozen during the two-day-long search at 16 locations in Bengaluru, an ED spokesperson said. The official said searches were conducted at premises of the accused and also on the offices of payment gateways and banks. – PTI

Overlooking 'scalp care'?

Your scalp has many sebaceous glands, hair follicles, sweat glands; it produces oil, which can lead to build-up if not washed properly

Just like your body, skin, and hair, your scalp needs care and attention too. While many of us have a sorted hair care routine where we invest money in expensive shampoos, rejuvenating conditioners, and leave-in creams, we tend to forget about scalp care! If the scalp is not cleansed or taken care of regularly, it accumulates dirt, sweat and build-up of product, which makes it difficult for any nourishing products to be absorbed properly. As a result, hair growth can be impacted.

Why Is Scalp Care So Important?

Scalp care must be an essential part of your beauty routine. Since the scalp has a higher number of sebaceous glands, hair follicles, and sweat glands, it produces more sweat and oil which can create a layer of build-up, if not washed properly. It won't come as a surprise to you that it's really difficult to get healthy and hydrated hair without a well-nourished scalp. Healthy scalp and healthy hair go together. So, if you're wondering if there is even a need to have a proper 'scalp regimen' the answer to your question is 'Yes, there is'. Build-up on your scalp is the main reason that you get unhealthy scalp and improperly nourished hair.

What Happens When You Overlook Scalp Care?

Just like how you miss taking care of your skin and it ends up getting dull and dry, the same goes for the scalp. Your hair will become dry, dehydrated, brittle, and devoid of proper moisture. You might just be making it easy for scalp conditions like dandruff, head lice, psoriasis, fungal infections, extreme itching, and burning, hair loss to occur.

How Exactly Can You Take Care Of Your Scalp?

Let's give you a low-down on what's the best routine to maintain a replenished, healthy scalp that can be the key to sporting lustrous, happy hair. A healthy scalp is clear of any redness, irritation, flakes, or dandruff. If you have been seeing or occasionally spotting these conditions on your scalp, it's time to pamper your scalp with some TLC. The steps mentioned below will definitely help you elevate your scalp care regimen.

Clarifying Shampoos

Our scalp contains oil glands that produce sebum, which is essential for healthy and moisturised hair. However, over productive sebaceous glands can make your hair extremely oily, and using shampoos that strip off all the natural oils isn't such a great idea. What is highly recommended is using shampoos that are gentle, hydrating, rejuvenating, sulphate-free and still maintain the oil-moisture balance in your scalp. On top of the league, is the Maui Moisture Revive & Hydrate – Shea Butter Shampoo, available at Sublime Life, the pioneer clean beauty curators in India. This shampoo is known for its moisturising and healing benefits and is packed with Omega-3 and Omega-6 which proves to be beneficial for scalp health.

"Oil secreted on the scalp can cause dead skin cells and dirt to be trapped easily, resulting in clogged pores and malnourished folicles

Exfoliate!

By this, we mean keep your scalp away from dirt, grime and oils! Any foreign particles and impurities will end up accumulating on your scalp and make it dirty and oily. The oil secreted on the scalp can cause dead skin cells and dirt to be trapped easily, resulting in clogged pores and malnourished follicles.

All of these impurities, dirt and excess oil can irritate your scalp and can make way for bacteria to breed.

Exfoliating can help you get rid of all these problems! Our favourite has to be the Flawsome Mean Clean Pre Shampoo Scalp Exfoliating Treatment which works perfectly in exfoliating the scalp effectively; it gets rid of excess sebum, keeps itching at bay and also packs salicylic acid that is known for gentle cleansing and exfoliation. A well-exfoliated scalp ensures your hair is getting the right amount of nutrients and stays healthy and strong, so don't miss buying this perfect exfoliating treatment at Sublime Life.

Avoid Sulphates And Parabens

It's always a better idea to stay away from chemicals when it comes to your hair care or scalp care products. Opting for gentle hair care essentials that are free from sulphates and parabens is the secret! Sulphates can strip off natural oils and dry hair out, even making your scalp more prone to issues. Parabens, on the other hand, can make your scalp inflamed, itchy and irritated. It's highly recommended that you use gentle and kind ingredients that are soothing and calming to your scalp and keep it inflammation free! A fan-favourite hair mask that is also super soothing to your scalp, is the Flawsome Dense Intense Exfoliating & Deep Cleansing Hair Mask! It's a multi-masking treatment which soothes, exfoliates and balances moisture levels in your scalp, helping you get rid of any undesirable build-up and achieve a healthy and moisturised scalp.

Protect Your Hair From The Sun

Were you aware that your scalp (just like your skin and hair) is also prone to damage caused by the sun! Sun damage to the scalp can cause dryness, irritation and hair thinning. Your saviour here is a hair serum or scalp treatment that is rich in sun protection factors. It might be surprising to hear but yes, you need 100 per cent protection against any sort of environmental and sun damage. Improper care or overexposure can cause dry, broken hair strands, frizz, slow growth of skin cells resulting in acne at a later stage. A hair serum such as The Earth Collective Hair Serum – Sun Protection acts like a sunscreen for your hair. This lightweight and nourishing formula doesn't weigh your hair down, and gives it the utmost protection from damaging UV rays. Not to forget, the non-greasy formula also promotes softness and shine.

Eat A Healthy Diet

A major necessity for a healthy scalp is the right diet. What you eat shows on the outside, and your diet plays a vital role in your hair and scalp health.

There's nothing a healthy diet can't fix, and if you eliminate oily and junk food, replacing it with a diet rich in protein, omega-3, fruits and vegetables, it's enough to give your scalp health a good boost.

The Cosmix No-Nonsense Plant Protein is packed with nutrients and does not contain any synthetic or added flavours that can harm your scalp. Known for the overall improvement of physical and mental wellbeing, it provides you with a rich source of protein that is extremely beneficial for maintaining a healthy scalp. There are also hair gummies like the Nyumi Happy Hair Gummies.

All problems solved

Dear Coleen

I'm a man in my early 40s and a few months ago my wife left me and our two young kids out of the blue. But looking back there were warning signs, and I think she was having some kind of midlife crisis. I thought our marriage was OK, but we didn't have sex that often and before she walked out, we hadn't had it in a long time. It was impossible to talk to her, though, because she'd just get so angry.

I found out she'd been telling people I was boring and she'd lost respect for me, which really hurt. I've got through with my family's help, but now my wife is saying she wants to talk. She says she regrets the way she left and isn't sure it was the right decision.

I still love her, but I'm not sure I can ever forgive her for walking out on the kids. Should I talk to her? I don't know what to do.

COLEEN SAYS

You have to talk to her, otherwise you'll be left with lots of unanswered questions.

On the surface, it sounds like she's had a crisis or breakdown and couldn't see a way out other than leaving. Maybe she was unfulfilled and bored, but instead of talking about it, she ran away to have fun, then realised that feels empty after a while. Talking doesn't commit you to anything – you're not saying, "I'll take you back", but you're saying you'll listen. And she has to understand how this has affected you and how you're still feeling now. You say she "isn't sure" leaving was the right decision, which sounds vague to me. But even if you both decided to give the marriage another go, you can't just go back to playing happy families because things weren't happy before she left. It has to be a work in progress. Don't rush into any decisions, instead, take it slow, and have counselling. You want to avoid putting your kids through this twice.

Janhvi reveals secrets from nook & corner of her mom's house

Janhvi Kapoor opened the doors to her plush Chennai bungalow to fans in a new video for a fashion magazine.

The actress gave a personal tour of the pad that her late mother, Sridevi purchased and decorated with her favourite pieces. From sharing glimpses of her favourite rooms in the house to the aesthetic bathroom and the stories attached to it, a statement wall of priceless pictures of her parents over the years, Janhvi didn't hold back on the details.

Opening up about the artistic treasures that adorn her house, she said, "The first time mum really discovered an affinity for painting was in this very house during one of our holidays. Khushi and I would look for any opportunity to spend more time with her and that's how we also developed an interest in art."

The actress also gave fans a tour of her master bedroom which surprisingly doesn't have a lock on the bathroom door. Revealing the memory attached to the same, she said, "I remember mom refused to put a lock as she was so scared that I would go into the bathroom and talk to boys. So, I was not allowed to have a lock on my bathroom. Now the entire room's done up... but my bathroom still doesn't have a lock..."

She added, "A thing I love about this house, apart from the memories, is that it has so much of the old, but also a little bit of the new us."

She also gave a glimpse of a 'secret room' inside the space that she had no clue about. "I don't know what's in there, probably something shady," she said.

Janhvi also gave a glimpse of her 'favourite part of the house' which was a wall filled with framed family photos over the years.

"It is like a memorabilia wall... it was actually mom's idea to do this," she said as she showed off some of Sridevi's unseen photos. —ETimes

Diana looks South

Bollywood actors have always looked down south. Diana Penty tried her hand at a south film this year. The Cocktail actress made her debut with Malayalam film, Salute, starring Dulquer Salmaan.

Talking about her experience, Diana said, "I started my south journey this year. It was a great experience working there. You know, I had heard such great things about south cinema and how good folks from the south industries are. And it indeed was a good experience. I didn't know what to expect from them before this, as I was not so familiar with cinema in the south. Now, I am. I enjoyed working with Dulquer."

She further adds, "Doing a film in a different language is quite a challenge. Even though I did not have a lot of dialogue, it was difficult. Malayalam is not easy, especially when you are not familiar. So, it was a lot of mugging I must say (Laughs!)."

The actress is now looking forward to her next Hindi release, which is Selfie starring Akshay Kumar. Onkar Kulkarni, ETimes

Margot Robbie's Pirates film shelved

Oscar nominee Hollywood star Margot Robbie has announced that her female-fronted 'Pirates of the Caribbean' film, which was announced in June 2020, will not be moving forward at Disney.

According to Variety, Margot made the revelation regarding the movie, which would have been written by her screenwriter Christina Hodson, in the magazine's cover story.

As per the outlet, she said, "We had an idea and we were developing it for a while, ages ago, to have more of a female-led -- not totally female-led, but just a different kind of story -- which we thought would've been really cool. But I guess they don't want to do it."

The confirmation had fans of the franchise celebrating the decision to shelve the film and began trending the hashtag, 'No Johnny No Pirates'.

"I like Margo Robbie as an actress but there is only ONE Captain Jack Sparrow. The movie would never work without him," read a tweet.

Santosh Srikanthappa is on cloud nine after turning director of a feature film. Santosh directed a short film – Santhe – in 2016. Santhe was noticed on social media by Manju V Raj, a software engineer working in Norway.

"Manju appreciated my way of promoting the film. He organised a screening for the film in Norway. Later, he agreed to bankroll my movie Khasagi Putagalu. Manju is from Tumakuru. We did not meet each other till the shooting of the film was over," said Santosh. The film was in the limelight for its soundtrack and trailer released a few days ago. "Khasagi Putagalu is a college student's love story. Audiences can connect to the story of the film," he said. Vishwa and Shwetha D'Souza are the lead pair in this movie. "I am happy to realise my long-cherished dream of acting in a feature film," said Vishwa.

CA's 2nd movie!

It may not be a stretch to say Adarsh Gunduraj is the first chartered accountant to play lead roles in Kannada movies. "I have had a passion towards movies since my college days. I used to participate in cultural activities then. I had an opportunity to act in the Kannada movie Swartharatna that was released in December 2018," said Adarsh.

Kannada movie 2nd Life is his second film as a hero. "I agreed to act in this movie since its story is interesting and connects to most of the people. It is a suspense thriller and revolves around misuse of umbilical cord blood that is useful to treat people with certain life-threatening diseases," he said.

2nd Life has action sequences executed under the guidance of master Vikram who worked for the movie KGF: Chapter 1. "I fell ill during the shoot of fight scene in the rain. I had a cold and cough for a few days due to the bad weather and the water that was poured to make it look like it is raining," he said. The soundtrack of 2nd Life was released through PRK Audio. Sindhu Rao from Mysuru plays the leading lady in 2nd Life. "I play a visually challenged person," said Sindhu.

The numbers in the grey squares refer to the sums of the digits that you must fill into the empty spaces directly below or to the right of the grey square containing the number. For instance, in the given example, the 3 boxes horizontally next to 15 must contain 3 digits that add up to 15, whereas for 9, it is the 2 boxes placed vertically under it that must add up to 9. No zeros are used here, only the digits 1 through 9.

Note: A digit cannot appear more than once in any particular digit combination. For instance, in the example, we cannot have the combination of 4+7+4 for 15.

Rules

» Connect adjacent dots with vertical or horizontal lines, creating a single loop (Fig A). » Crossovers or branches are not allowed (As shown by dotted lines in Fig B). » Numbers in the puzzle indicate the number of lines that should surround it, while empty cells may be surrounded by any number of lines. » You can't draw lines around zeros. » Each puzzle has just one unique solution.

How to begin:

Example (Fig A) – Begin with the zero next to 3. Since no lines can be drawn around zero, mark crosses around it, as shown. Now there is a cross in one space around 3. So we know the three lines of 3 can only be drawn in the remaining three spaces. Next, these lines can only be extended in one direction each. Continue, using the same logic.

Hints: Keep eliminating possibilities by marking crosses in spaces between dots where a line isn't possible, i.e., if you have already completed required lines or where a line extension may create a branch or cause a dead-end (Fig B)
